Prisoners Seize 24 Hostages

MONROE, Wash. (AP) — Four desperate young prisoners, brandishing butcher knives, seized some 24 men, women and children visitors and three guards as hostage Monday in an attempt to break out of the Washington State Reformatory.

The hostages were held in the visiting room on the second floor of the main reformatory building.

Nearly three hours after the desperadoes made their bold bid for freedom about 2:45 p.m., the situation appeared to be developing into a waiting game.

16 Alive In River Accident

GREEN RIVER, Utah (AP) — Sixteen men, women and children reported missing in the turbulent Colorado River were reported safe late Monday in a sketchy radio message received by the Federal Aeronautics Agency.

Archie Swenson, Civil Air Patrol commander in Moab, said he had the radio report from the FAA. Swenson said he listened in as pilot James Hurst told the FAA station at Hanksville, Utah, he had two persons picked up from the river bank aboard his plane and that the other 14 were all right.

Mrs. Hurst said she received the same information in a telephone call from the San Juan County sheriff's office at Monticello, which had picked up the report.

There were no further details available.

Challenged Rapids

The party of 16 had challenged the Colorado's deadliest rapids in three rubber rafts. Hurst started searching when they didn't come out on schedule. He spotted the stranded party by the river bank in Cataract Canyon and sent a helicopter to get them. Hurst said then he thought both were men but he couldn't be sure.

The 16 persons had set out June 28 in their rafts to bob down the Green and Colorado Rivers from here to Hite, 80 miles in a straight line but much farther along the cork-screw course of the rivers. Hurst started searching when he hadn't heard from them Monday.

Daily Record To Present Facts On Fashions For Males

THE AMERICAN male is becoming almost as fashion conscious as his wife.

That is one inference which might be drawn from the prominent part being given men's fashions during national press week of the Couture Group of the New York Dress Institute the week of July 12-18.

Men's fashions invaded the hitherto strictly female couture styles last Winter with one lone designer.

The enthusiasm with which the nation's fashion press received the show has prompted the unified male wear industry to be represented in the July showings of Fall and Winter fashions.

At a luncheon at the Cotillion Room of the Pierre-Hotel, the American Institute of Men's and Boy's Wear will present an advance show to the visiting newspaperwomen.

Among those women will be the Daily Record's own Bobby Westbrook, who promises to report in detail — and with pictures — the new slant of a shoulder, the placement of buttons, the line of a pocket and new trends in colors and material exclusively for its male reader.

Ben-Gurion's Party Offers Election Plan

JERUSALEM (AP) — The tangled political situation left by David Ben-Gurion's resignation as prime minister prompted his party to suggest Monday that the date for national elections be moved ahead.

That would allow the 73-year-old Israeli leader to take his case to the people, who have backed him up often in the past.

Ben-Gurion quit Sunday night because two parties in his government coalition refused to support the Cabinet's decision to sell 250,000 Israeli-made mortar shells to West Germany, despite bitter Israeli hatred of the Germans for mass slaughter of Jews. Most of the shells already have been delivered.

The Israeli press has reported the arms sold to West Germany were grenade launchers, but the Defense Ministry in Bonn said this seemed to be a mistranslation of the German word for mortar shells.

Consultations

President Izhak Ben-Zvi began consultations on forming a new government, and the job was not an easy one. His first visitor was Akiwa Govrin, chairman of Ben-Gurion's Mapai (Labor) party. As expected, Govrin proposed that Ben-Gurion form a new government.

The task was made more urgent by the fact that Ben-Gurion refused to have anything to do with the four ministers from the two rebellious parties in his 15-member coalition, which is staying on as a caretaker government. He refused even to meet with them. He has no authority to fire them.

There seems little support in Parliament for the idea of a minority government without the two dissident parties, the left-wing Achduth Avodah (Unity of Labor) and Mapam (United Workers).

A Mapai spokesman said the party has proposed that the elections be moved up from Nov. 17 to Sept. 26. This would require a change in the election law by Parliament, where the Mapai holds the largest bloc of seats although its 40 members constitute less than a majority.

Parliament continues in session during the government crisis. Ogden R. Reid, the new U.S. ambassador, visited Parliament Monday and was welcomed by speaker Machum Mir and members.

Court Gives Child To Shoemakers

MOUNT BETHEL — A Pennsylvania Supreme Court decision has returned seven-year-old Erica Lewis to Mr. and Mrs. James Shoemaker of Upper Mount Bethel Township, neighbors of the child's dead mother.

The court reversed a decision by Judge Carleton T. Woodring of Northampton County which gave the child to an aunt by marriage, Mrs. Vivian Elizabeth Weaver, 43, Gardenville City, N. Y.

The mother, Helen Lewis, died last Dec. 21 at the Monroe County General Hospital.

Formerly of the Philadelphia area, she had lived on Allegheny road in the township for six years. After her death, it was found she left an estate of about $100,000.

The Shoemakers gave the orphaned daughter a home and followed with a petition to adopt her. The petition was opposed by Mrs. Weaver, whose first husband, now dead, was Erica's uncle. Mrs. Weaver asked for guardianship, with the possibility of asking for adoption later.

Original Ruling

Judge Woodring ruled that the child would have the best chance of favorable development away from the Portland-Mount Bethel area, where, before her mother's death, she had not been cared for adequately.

The judge did not seek to contrast the qualifications of the two families of their neighborhoods to bring up the child. He noted "in passing" however "that Erica was the victim of a poor environmental start in her mother's home, which is in the same neighborhood as her present residence."

The high court opinion, written by Justice Bell, ruled that the best interests of the child required that she live with the Shoemakers. The opinion cited their fine reputation and the interest they had shown in the child.

The Weaver's only recourse, attorneys said, is to ask the Supreme Court to hear reargument of the case. Whether it would hear reargument is discretionary with the high court.

Soviet Union Fires Two Dogs, Rabbit Into Space Successfully

Over Million Cheer Queen In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Queen Elizabeth captivated Chicago Monday. She in turn said she was "frightfully excited" by the city.

More than a million persons, police said, cheered Elizabeth and Prince Philip in the streets. Thousands more sought to get close to Buckingham Mountain Landing where the royal couple stepped ashore in the morning.

At one moment, the crowd—mostly camera-carrying women and children—surged through police lines and swarmed toward the automobile in which the Queen and William G. Stratton, governor of Illinois, were riding.

Motorcycle policemen, racing their motors, came between the spectators and the Queen and quickly restored order. There were no other incidents in the huge throngs that turned out to catch a glimpse of the royal couple.

"It's the biggest thing I've ever seen," said a veteran police officer. Other Chicagoans, comparing the reception to those for President Harry S. Truman, while he was in office, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, said the Monday crowds were bigger.

Anonymous Message

An anonymous telephone message, warning that a bomb had been planted in the Museum of Science and Industry, sent the police bomb squad quickly to the building. They found nothing and the queen's visit there was uneventful.

"There was absolutely nothing to it," said Police Commissioner Timothy J. O'Connor. Some prankster decided to make a phone call.

Elizabeth and Philip stepped ashore promptly at 10 a.m. from their barge which brought them from the royal yacht, Britannia, tied up at a buoy outside the Chicago breakwater.

Thundering guns, the roar of two formations of Navy jets flying low in tight formation, the hoarse whistles from freighters and sirens on pleasure craft greeted the Queen and her husband.

After greeting Gov. Stratton, Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago, and the diplomatic representatives of the United Kingdom and six Commonwealth countries, the royal party entered automobiles and drove slowly across the city to the International Trade Fair.

Elizabeth wore a black and white print dress, matching hat and white gloves.

"You will find us very keen and inquisitive sightseers," Elizabeth said in response to welcoming statements from Stratton and Daley.

At the trade fair she backed up her words, pausing frequently to look and ask questions.

The royal couple was guest of Gov. Stratton at luncheon at the Ambassador West Hotel.

Visits to the Museum of Science and Industry and the Art Institute were to follow, then tea, and finally the mayor's banquet at night.

In a short speech from a prepared text at the banquet, Elizabeth stressed international ties and had special praise for the foreign aid program of the United States.

"Today, the United States plays a role of vast responsibility around the world," she said. "Your government has shown a wonderful understanding and generosity to the less fortunate nations of the world which has given them a sense of partnership and stability during a critical period of the world's history."

"The nations of the Commonwealth, too, can testify from their own long experience to the true meaning of partnership among free peoples."

Damage To Be Light

HARRISBURG (AP) — Crop damage from stem rust of small grains is expected to cause but "little damage" in Pennsylvania this year, the State Agriculture Department reported Monday.

Dr. Thomas L. Guyton, director of the Plant Industry Bureau, said wheat, rye and barley crops are too far advanced to be seriously affected by an outbreak at this time.

Oats, however, are still vulnerable to damage from both crown and stem rust, particularly in northern Pennsylvania where maturity is still some weeks away, Guyton said.

Businessmen Protest Train Issue

STROUDSBURG Businessmen's Assn. took action on two matters last night:

(1) Formed a committee to seek a solution to the traffic congestion in the downtown section of Stroudsburg, and

(2) Voted to send letters of protest to the Lackawanna Railroad and the Interstate Commerce Commission relative to the DL&W's proposal to remove two trains now running between Hoboken, N. J., and Scranton.

John B. Wilson, president, was in charge of the meeting, which followed a dinner at Reeder's Inn. Twenty-seven members and their wives attended.

Named to the committee to see what can be done to relieve the traffic congestion were Herman Lax, Harrison Taylor, Jesse Pierson and Ben Silvers. The committee will meet today for a preliminary briefing before starting its study.

The move to protest the train removals was similar to action taken last week by the East Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn. in which it was pointed out that the trains are essential to the economic welfare of the community.

The association also decided to hold its annual Stroudsburg Clearance Days toward the latter part of July.

Holiday Death Total Set At 520

By The Associated Press
Traffic 276
Drowning 179
Miscellaneous 65
Total 520

THE NATION'S motorists surprised the experts during the Fourth of July holiday weekend by holding the traffic death toll of 276.

Grim though the count was, it fell 74 short of a pre-holiday estimate of 350 by the National Safety Council.

All Types

The two-day, 54-hour weekend observation from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday saw 520 deaths from accidents of all types. The other 65 deaths from miscellaneous accidents were not broken down.

About one-third of the drownings resulted from boating accidents. At least 60 boating deaths were counted—all but two of them from drowning. Drownings numbered 101 in this year's two-day Memorial Day weekend.

The traffic toll's unexpected low level compared with 310 highway fatalities during the Memorial Day weekend this year.

Six states had no traffic deaths during the weekend—Alaska, Delaware, New Hampshire, North Dakota, New Mexico and Wyoming.

Farm Price Recovery Set As Slight

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania's farm prices recovered one per cent between May and June, the Agriculture Department reported Monday.

They were still 9 per cent below mid-June a year ago, however.

The department gave this survey:

Fruits
Fruits, up 6 per cent from May; down 6 per cent from 1958.
Vegetables, up 3 per cent over May; down 10 per cent from last year.
Grains, down 2 per cent from May.
Meat animals, unchanged from May; 9 per cent below 1958.
Wool, up 9 per cent from May.
Milk cows, unchanged at $305 a head, highest average since 1951.

Richards Surprised On Announcement Of Retiring

HARRISBURG (AP)—George J. Richards, administrative deputy highways secretary, Monday expressed surprise that the Lawrence administration had announced his resignation and appointed an Erie man to fill his post.

Gov. Lawrence appointed Arthur P. Logan, former secretary and business manager of the Erie City School District, to the $15,378-a-year post earlier in the day.

A statement from the governor's office quoted Park H. Martin, highways secretary, as saying Richards would resign from his position on or about July 15.

Statement

"This is news to me," Richards said when told of the announcement.

Martin insisted, however, that Richards, a former major general from Easton, was resigning.

In a letter to Richards, Martin said he had a conference with Richards last Wednesday and "it was my understanding that you would submit your resignation."

"You indicated to me that you had received an offer of a position in Washington, D. C., which you were considering," Martin said, adding:

"Will you kindly advise me as to when I may expect your resignation?"

A native of Lackawanna County, Logan is a graduate of Gannon College, Erie.

Logan, a native of Scranton, is a nephew of Mrs. Clinton Fausen, of 558 Main St., and Mrs. Loretta Dennis, of 721 Main St., Stroudsburg. His home is in Erie.

The Highways Department also appointed Brydon H. Lidle, Hummelstown, Dauphin County, as personnel director, succeeding Robert S. Winchester of Philadelphia, effective July 13.

Democrats Seek Butler's Resignation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A demand for Paul Butler's resignation as Democratic national chairman was sounded Monday as Senate and House Democrats furiously replied to Butler's criticism of the Democratic leadership in Congress.

While Republicans listened with unconcealed happiness, various Democrats denounced Butler as a party wrecker and heaped praise on Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas and other Democratic legislative leaders.

Republicans kept quiet. Their Senate leader, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, looking not a bit grieved, remarked that it is the better part of wisdom not to get mixed up in other people's family brawls.

Butler started the fraternal fracas. He said in a televised interview Sunday quite a few Democrats were unhappy about the performance of the Democratic-controlled Congress and the party will be in a tough situation for the 1960 presidential election unless the leadership comes up with what he regards as a better record.

Reliable Information

But Rep. William Jennings Bryan Dorn (D-SC) told the House he had reliable information Butler had sometimes supported Republican candidates, and now, he said, the chairman was failing for a Republican trick to divide the Democrats and win the 1960 election. He said Butler should resign and be replaced by someone "Democratic party-born and party-bred."

A Senate freshman from Butler's state of Indiana, Sen. Vance Hartke, took the floor in that chamber to declare that Johnson's "concept of responsible Congress" was responsible for Democratic victories in last year's congressional elections.

Earlier, the assistant Democratic Senate leader, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, said Butler's complaints would only "furnish fodder" for President Eisenhower and the Republican National Committee.

Johnson said tersely, "Butler and Morton (Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, chairman of the Republican National Committee) are both entitled to their opinions."

Rayburn said he might have something to say later, but meanwhile "We'll just let Butler stew with Mansfield's statement."

Republican leaders in the House were saying nothing. As one well-

Triplets Go Home To Farm

SOUTHPORT, N. C. (AP) — Three little triplet sisters, plump and sleeping soundly, went home Monday to their weather-beaten house beside a tobacco field to take up life with their parents who said they refused big money for them.

Upsets and capsizeings weren't the causes of all deaths. Two died and three were hurt in Tennessee when a boat was shattered by explosion and fire.

Despite the tragic holiday toll and an upsurge in boating activity during recent years, annual fatality experience in boat mishaps has been close to the 1958 level of 1,287 deaths for the last 10 years.

The government Office of Vital Statistics reported 1,243 deaths in boating accidents in 1949.

But, boating activity has mushroomed during the same period, with craft of all kinds up nearly 300 per cent.

The Outboard Boating Club of America says the number of boats of all classes has jumped from 2,244,000 in 1949 to 7,330,000 this year.

Chiang called the four Nationalist pilots credited with the kills to his home and presented each a gold wrist watch for their part in the battle with 12 MIGs.

Animals Brought Back To Earth

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced Monday night two dogs, a rabbit and recording instruments were shot into space in a single rocket and brought back intact. The animals and instruments weighed more than two tons.

The Soviets did not say how high or how far the rocket traveled. They gave no size or weight of the propelling rocket other than to say it was an intermediate range missile.

But they declared much valuable data was collected on conditions in space.

A Moscow radio commentator said:

"It is the most powerful single-stage cosmic rocket sent up so far. It is much stronger than anything the Americans have."

Another said:

"This is a great day for Soviet science. We have proved that radiation barriers are not impossible to overcome."

For one of the dogs, Otavzhnaya (Daring), it was the third trip into space, the official Tass news agency reported. The name of the other dog is Zvezhinka (Snowflake). The rabbit is nameless.

Animals Well

The animals are quite well after their trip, Tass said. The rocket that carried them was sent aloft at 6:40 a.m. Moscow time July 2.

The Soviets described it as a single stage geophysical ballistic intermediate range rocket.

An announcement said: "Repeated ascents made by the same animals have made it possible to obtain data about the adaptability of animals to flights in rockets. New data on the behavior of animals under conditions or weightlessness have been obtained."

The only information the Soviets gave on the height or distance of the flight was that it went to "great altitude." The launching site was not disclosed.

The Soviets never claimed other flights exceeded 130 miles from the earth. One dog named Albino was reported last February to have made two such flights aboard a rocket.

Among the instruments on the rocket, the agency said, was equipment for studying ultraviolet rays, the structure of the ionosphere, micrometer showers, the direction and speed of air currents at various altitudes, and the density, pressure, temperature and composition of the atmosphere at various altitudes.

The announcement was made on the opening day of a cosmic ray conference in Moscow over which Cecil Powell, British winner of the Nobel Prize for physics, presided.

Last May the United States sent two female monkeys, named Able and Baker, 300 miles above the earth. They returned alive when the nose cone of the Jupiter missile that took them on a 10,000 m.p.h. ride for 1,500 miles was recovered.

Baker is alive but Able died in June during an operation to remove part of an instrument used to record her journey.

The Soviets have been training dogs for several years for space flights.

The Soviet satellite Sputnik II, launched Nov. 3, 1957, carried the 13-pound dog Laika. She lived for seven days in space but died from lack of oxygen long before Sputnik II burned out when it returned through the earth's atmosphere.

The announcement of the latest Soviet space flight did not say when the dog Daring had made its previous flights.

'The Daily Investor'

Cross-Section Of Value

By William A. Doyle
International Investment Analyst

Q. I am a trustee of my company's profit-sharing plan. We have decided to invest the money in common stocks. Our main objective will be safety-growth, with some income. After much study and advice, I have selected the following stocks: 100 shares of Sealright-Oswego Falls, 50 Pacific Lighting, 45 General Telephone and Electronics, 45 United Aircraft, 50 Sears, Roebuck, and 100 Sunray Mid-Continent Oil.

What is your opinion of this portfolio of investments?

A. It seems to be OK. It has a pretty fair cross-section of medium and good-grade stocks. Some of the issues are counted as out-and-out growth situations, while some others are better - than - average income producers. There's not a cat or a dog in the lot.

By splitting the investment among different stocks in different industries, there will be an added element of safety.

However, your letter seems to indicate that you think of safety and growth as practically one and the same thing. Because the investment will be diversified, your profit-sharing fund stands to have a bit of each. But if you are going to make an all-out try for safety, you will have to sacrifice some growth potential, and vice versa.

And let's hope you realize how big a chore you and your fellow trustees are taking on in managing a profit-sharing fund. Unless you are prepared to put a great deal of time and effort into the job, you had better think about getting some steady professional guidance.

William A. Doyle
International Investment Analyst

It's one thing to invest your own money. It's something else again to manage other people's money.

Q. My son will be ready for college in three years. I decided to risk $1,000 (our entire family savings) by buying Cheek Full O' Nuts stock. I will buy more of this stock through the New York Stock Exchange's Monthly Investment Plan. I expect that the profits will finance my son's education.

I "looked into" this company as well as an amateur can. I looked it up in Standard & Poor's and other statistical manuals and got reports and opinions from brokers. I ate in the company's restaurants to watch their operations. I believe this stock has great growth possibilities.

Am I doing right or wrong?

A. You did an excellent job of "looking into" this stock, a much more thorough job than most people do. You prove that an "amateur" can get detailed information. And a steady purchase program, such as the Monthly Investment Plan, is a wise way to buy stock.

Your choice seems to be a good one. Cheek Full O' Nuts was closely held until last year when its stock was first offered to the public. So, it may still be early to get a firm idea about it. However, it has done well so far and seems to look good for the future.

But, no matter how well it may do, it seems doubtful that you will be able to finance a college education from the profits alone, unless you invest quite a bit more money.

And, if your family has no other savings, you are taking a mighty big risk buying stocks any stocks — no matter how worthy your motives are.

Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.

Commission Receives Five Duplicates

THE 1959 REAL estate tax duplicates for Stroudsburg's five wards were delivered to the Monroe County Commissioners' office yesterday morning from Chief County Tax Assessor George K. Brands' office.

After one week of rush work by the tax office, only these and the duplicates for Delaware Water Gap borough and Jackson Township have been completed.

A week ago both Brands and a representative of the company from which the county bought its duplicate-making data-flo machine said all the duplicates would be prepared within two weeks.

According to law property owners do not have to file improvement reports for work less than $1,000. County Solicitor Leo Achterman told both the Commissioners and Brands yesterday.

Commission Chairman John R. Lesoine had maintained this was so. Brands took the stand that any property improvement which altered the information on his office's appraisal cards should be reported. He used as an example his own new house patio which cost $476.

Enforcement Fine
Achterman said neither Brands or the commission have the power to enforce the filing of improvement reports involving under $1,000, but that there is a $50 fine for failure to report work over $1,000. Painting improvements are exempt, he said.

The commissioners instructed Chief Clerk H. Ray Saunders to contact Decatur Iron and Steel Co., Decatur, Ala., for information on modernization work at the county jail. Lesoine said the county should replace the old wooden roof with a concrete one and build a modern jail cell block inside the present concrete walls. The jail was built in 1865.

Mrs. Donald Gilpin, chairman of the personnel committee for the Children's Aid Society of Monroe County, requested the county to supply heat every Tuesday between 7:30 p. m. and 9 p. m. next winter at 617 South St. while the society holds interviews under its protective care program.

A. J. Molitor, the society's executive secretary, said the society's new hours will be the best for some time for some persons to see the society's social workers.

County Register and Recorder Floyd Butz asked the commissioners to supply his office with new findings at $25 a piece for the county's mortgage records. He noted that present mortgage books are so heavy that they will be split in half.

Other prize winners surround the group.

Pen Argyl Youth Among Winners

PEN ARGYL—Kenneth Dawe, of 417 Mountain Ave., was one of 10 winners in a recent contest sponsored by the Pennsylvania Forestry Assn., in which 48,000 Pennsylvania pupils competed.

Dawe was fourth place winner in the boys' competition. The contest, designed to urge all citizens to take better care of Pennsylvania's parks and fields and streams, was to name a "Good Outdoor Manners Raccoon."

Each winner received a personal letter signed by Gov. David L. Lawrence. They were presented by Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, state secretary of forests and waters, at a dinner in Altoona.

Winner
John Hoyes, a first grade student at Charleroi, was the winner. He selected the name, "Howdy," for the raccoon because he "welcomes you to the forest, his home, if you obey the rules of a good guest."

Hoyes received a $200 savings bond presented by A. C. McIntyre, of Ardmore, director of the contest.

Plans to include the raccoon on the next official state highway map have already been made.

The state hopes the animal will become a symbol for anti-litter and anti-vandalism campaigns on the state's highways and in areas heavily used for outdoor recreation.

PVA Lists Winners Of Awards

THE PARALYZED Veterans of America, recently announced the winners of the organization's highest award for 1958. A New York Neurosurgeon and an executive from Irvington.

The awards are given to the paraplegic (paralyzed from the waist down due to an injury or disease of the spinal cord) "who has done most in the field of paraplegia," and to the non-paraplegic person "who has done most in the field of paraplegia."

James B. Campbell, M.D., Columbia University, College of Physicians and Surgeons, 630 W. 168 St., N.Y., received his "Speedy" (PVA emblem mounted on plaque) for his research work on the regeneration of the spinal cord.

Harry A. Schwelkert Jr., president of the Paralyzed Veterans of America and executive secretary of the eastern chapter, 432 Fourth Ave., N.Y., 16, was voted his "Speedy" by his colleagues for his outstanding work as chief executive of their organization.

Schwelkert is paralyzed from the waist down. It was the result of a traffic accident. Actual presentation of the awards will take place at the Hotel New Yorker, 34th and 5th Ave., N.Y., Wednesday July 22, 1959. The PVA's convention opens in the New Yorker on July 20, 1959.

Dr. Campbell and a team of neurological researchers have been working toward the solution of central nervous system regeneration since 1956. Their work first made the headlines in October 1957 when results of their research with the use of a plastic called "Millipore" were reported. There are 13 persons on the Columbia team, including several neurosurgeons.

Work with spinal cord paralysis first drew Dr. Campbell's attention during World War II. He performed operations on many paraplegic military personnel while stationed in the South Pacific. He continued his work in neurosurgery after the war.

The doctor, quite modestly, attributes much of the success of their experiments to others, and to the firms and organizations which contributed technical knowledge and the funds to carry on the research.

New Rules To Define Milk Bacteria

NEW REGULATIONS defining the number and character of bacteria in milk and milk products which became effective last week in Pennsylvania are in some cases more stringent than the bacterial standards recommended by the United States Public Health Service.

The new regulations, promulgated following studies and hearings on milk bacterial standards held by the Department of Agriculture, were announced by State Secretary of Agriculture William L. Henning.

Unannounced Checks
State Department of Agriculture milk sanitarians will enforce the new regulations through unannounced checks at dairies.

"Under the new regulations, there will be a bacterial count in excess of 200,000 per milliliter as received from the farm. Pasteurized milk must not have a standard plate count in excess of 30,000 per milliliter. Both these standards are identical to the requirements of the U. S. Public Health Service milk code," Dr. Henning explained.

The new regulations do not affect Pasteurized A milk. For Pasteurized A milk, the standards remain the same—a count of 25,000 per milliliter for milk as received from the farm and 15,000 following pasteurization. Approximately 1,500 farmers supply 28 milk plants selling Pasteurized A milk in Pennsylvania, most of them in the Philadelphia milk market area.

Searchers Fail To Locate Missing Boy In Tobyhanna Region

Hunt For Youth In Third Day

STATE Police, soldiers and firemen yesterday combed a heavily-wooded area of Monroe County in a vain search for a 16-year-old cerebral palsy victim missing since Saturday afternoon.

Robert Lynott of Gouldsboro, Wayne County, was last seen by his mother at 4:30 p. m. Saturday. He told her at the time he was going for a short hike in the woods.

The youth and his family were spending the weekend at a cabin in the Pocono Gardens area near Tobyhanna Signal Depot. Lt. Norman Aukerman, head of the Signal Corps rescue team at the depot, said the search is more difficult than usual because Lynott's voice has been afflicted by the disease.

"The only way we'll find him is to spot him walking or stumble over him," Aukerman said. "The boy can only utter noises when he is frightened. It is hard to say how he will react in the woods."

An officer and 85 men from the Signal Depot were in the search party yesterday.

No Plans
A Signal Corps spokesman said no depot planes were used yesterday because none were requested. He said bad flying weather might have been one reason why the planes were not requested.

On Sunday, a search plane from the depot gave up after the pilot was unable to locate the search teams, hidden by heavy foliage.

Searchers unsuccessfully dragged a drainage pond near the Coolbaugh Sand and Gravel Co. pit.

Late yesterday, the Signal Corps detail was moved to the Brady's Lake region to search there.

A bloodhound, brought into the search by New York State Police late Sunday, was returned yesterday. It had picked up a brief scent, then lost it.

State Police from the Mount Pocono barracks are in charge of the search. Volunteer firemen from Pocono Lake, Gouldsboro, and Tobyhanna are among those assisting.

A team of Civil Air Patrol rangers from Scranton assisted in the search Sunday.

State Police Hunt Prisoners

HONESDALE — State Police yesterday continued to search this area for two men who escaped from Wayne County Jail here.

The pair, Mario Marrero, 21, formerly of Trenton, N.J., and Robert Kuchs, 29, Greentown, RD 1, are presumed to be armed.

Bloodhounds from Hawthorne Barracks in New York, brought into the search for the men Sunday, were returned to their home barracks yesterday.

The two men escaped from the jail between 5 a. m. and 8 p. m. Saturday. There was no indication of how they escaped.

Residents of the area were warned the men are believed to be carrying weapons. A local store was broken into over the weekend and rifles were among the loot.

Marrero was brought here to plead guilty to two counts of motor vehicle larceny and then was scheduled to be returned to Easton where he has been serving a term since last Dec. 11.

Kuchs was brought here on a parole violation charge in Georgia and was to be examined at Fairview Hospital.

Fire Problem Discussed By Bangor Board

BANGOR — Oscar W. Ackerman, road supervisor for Washington Township, last night attended a Bangor Borough Council meeting relative to fire protection for the township.

Clarence Beagle, chairman of the safety committee, informed Council that in the past year the Bangor Fire Department answered 28 alarms in the township.

The present contract will expire Dec. 31 and calls for a payment of $500 a year to the township. Members of the safety committee urged Council to negotiate a new contract by Nov. 1 calling for at least $1,000 a year in fees.

At the last regular meeting of Council, members had instructed Borough Solicitor J. Lawrence Davis to investigate the legality of the Bangor Police Department.

1901 Ordinance

He informed Council last night that in 1901 the borough council passed an ordinance establishing a police department with full authority.

Council also authorized the transfer of $450 to the park lighting fund to help meet the recent obligation of $1,000 for repair of the lighting system.

Council passed two resolutions — one authorizing placing of eight new street lights at a cost of $125.00 a month and the other establishing a sewer authority for the construction of the borough's new sewage disposal system.

Solicitor Davis was instructed to write State Sen. Fred B. Rooney requesting his cooperation in securing the resurfacing of Messinger St. between S. Main and S. First Sts. and relative to the relocation of Route 90 through the borough.

Davis informed Council that two persons who had previously refused to pay their obligations for weed cutting in 1958 had made settlement of borough charges.

File Suit
However, the solicitor was instructed to file suit against Peter Dotta for his failure to make payment for this work.

The borough secretary, William J. Sleeman, was directed to write a letter to the Ex-Lite Corp. relative to complaints of air pollution received by borough officials.

In order to establish speed zones in the borough, Council asked the State Highways Department to establish speed zones on S. and N. Main Sts. and S. First St.

Council also took action to place one of the three telephones granted to the borough by the Commonwealth Telephone Co. in police headquarters.

Due to the fact that the September meeting would fall on Labor Day, Council postponed it until Tuesday, Sept. 8.

Wage-Price Link

Some interesting facts regarding the inflation problem were brought to light in the House of Representatives recently by Rep. Phil Weaver (R-Nebr.) in an effort to clear away the confusion which clouds the subject.

According to the Congressional Record, Congressman Weaver cited two independent studies conducted this year by the National Industrial Conference Board and the private economic study organization known as Econometric Specialists, Inc.

They bring into focus, he said, a "very important aspect of the problem of inflation: the division of national income between workers and people whose savings provide the tools for production."

The board's inquiry shows that after exclusion of all taxes, labor gets 83.2 cents out of every dollar of income generated in the national economy, while property claims 16.8 cents.

The Econometric project used a different approach, but obtained substantially similar findings. This study places labor's share at 76 to 85 percent.

Besides the close agreement between the surveys, Rep. Weaver observed that the industries and products analyzed represent basic operations that should give a valid indication of trends throughout the economy.

"The conclusion," he said, "seems almost inescapable that because they are so large a part of the total, rising labor costs must, in the long run, end up in rising prices."

Furthermore, Rep. Weaver pointed out that labor costs are steadily being applied from the original sources of raw materials to the final finished product.

In addition to those involved in the manufacturing processes, there are also the labor costs of transportation, of packaging, of wholesaling, and finally, of retailing.

Government data show that in manufacturing industry as a whole, average hourly earnings increased by 60 percent in the 10 years, 1947-56, the congressman said, while productivity rose only 45 percent. In the steel industry, he remarked, labor costs increased by 75 percent, while productivity climbed only 29 percent.

All of this is reflected in the declining purchasing power of the consumer's dollar. The 100-cent dollar of 1940 was worth 63 cents in 1947 and by mid-1958 was worth only 49 cents.

Questioning whether a wage increase moderate enough not to affect prices can be granted, Rep. Weaver declared: "Any new round of wage increases in a basic industry rapidly fans out through the economy by touching off demands for matching increases all along the line—in manufacturing, transportation and distribution . . . and will have clearly predictable results when not accompanied by equal increases in productivity."

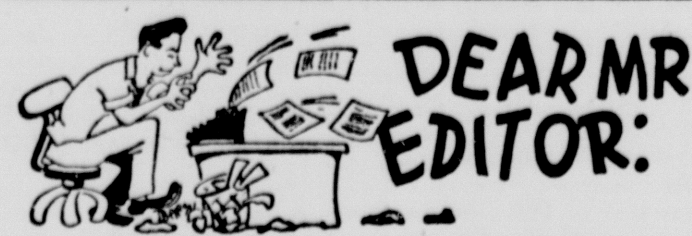

In conclusion, the congressman rules out government controls, saying they invariably lead to "problems still greater than those they are supposed to solve". He adds:

"Our American economy has flourished as the purchasing power and living standards of the people have advanced, and everyone today surely believes in the highest possible wage levels."

"But wage increases which overlap productivity and bring on further inflation are an attack on the welfare of all."

The Editor,
The Daily Record,
Dear Sir:

I was very disappointed not to be able to see the fireworks this year. I think that children enjoy more than anybody. Since the fireworks started at midnight, most parents would not allow their children up that late. I certainly hope that next year the fireworks will be held at a more sensible time and at the stadium.

Helping The Tourists

Editor, Daily Record.

Dear Sir:

Monroe County is known as Vacation Land and tourists have contributed largely to the wealth of the community. However it is becoming more and more difficult for our visitors to travel in our county due to the many detours made necessary by new roads and bridge construction.

It is, therefore, thought advisable for a program to be implemented by the Motor Club, the resort owners and the Junior Chamber of Commerce. This should include the following:

(1) Information booths should be placed at every entrance to the county. These could be staffed by the ladies of the county acting as volunteers. Each visitor should be given a road map, tour information, a large white sheet and several flares.

(2) If the visitor becomes lost he should place the white sheet on the hood of his car (during the day) or light the flares (during the night). Helicopters should cover the county on a 24 hour service and if a white sheet is seen or a flare the location should be pinpointed and radioed to a central office.

(3) Rescue teams should be constantly available. On receiving the report from the helicopter they should go to the rescue of the lost tourist taking with them coffee, sandwiches and blankets. Visitors who are in shock from hunger and exposure should be taken at once to the Monroe County General Hospital.

(4) On 24 hours' notice

guides should be furnished to meet and escort tourists to their hotels without loss of time. A minimum charge can be made for this service.

(5) A few motor boats should be ready to rescue tourists who have been stranded while trying to ford the streams because they have been unable to locate the new bridges.

(6) Every Saturday morning the road contractors should take guided tours over the new construction to visit the many bridges and explain how, eventually, they will connect with the new Throughway. A prize should be given to the writer of the best letter.

(7) Each week the Daily Record should print letters suggesting better locations for the Throughway. A small prize should be given to the writer of the best letter.

(8) A petition should be circulated asking that the Throughway be constructed as soon as possible. This should be signed by citizens between the ages of twenty-one and thirty. It is considered unnecessary for those over thirty to sign this petition as the road will not be constructed during their lifetime. Copies of this paper should be sent to the Governor of Pennsylvania, the President of the United States and the United Nations.

(9) A certificate of indebtedness should be issued by the Highway Department to every property owner whose land has been confiscated by the State. This should state the amount due and that it will be paid in the future when funds are available. These certificates can be placed in safety deposit boxes and will probably be collected by the grandchildren of the original owner of the confiscated property.

If the above recommendations are carried out it is believed that tourists and vacationists will again return to Monroe County and thus prosperity will again return to the Garden Spot of the State.

A WELL WISHER.

The Allen-Scott Report

By Rober S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — Close political lieutenants of Senators John Kennedy and Hubert Humphrey are discussing an extraordinary plan for waging "all-or-nothing" presidential primaries in a group of key states.

Those under consideration are New Hampshire, Wisconsin and Oregon — which have presidential primaries early next March and April.

Conducting these significant backstage talks are: For Kennedy — Hyman Raskin, Chicago lawyer, associate of former Democratic National Chairman Stephen Mitchell and prominently active in Adlai Stevenson's 1952 and 1956 campaigns.

For Humphrey — James Rowe, Washington attorney, one-time New Deal braintrust, and one of Stevenson's 1956 campaign managers.

Crux of the remarkable proposal they are deliberating is an agreement under which the winner of two of the three primaries would get the backing of the loser in other states in which he carries weight.

In Kennedy's case, his losing would mean he would swing his support to Humphrey in Massachusetts and other New England states where Kennedy has leading presidential strength. If Humphrey lost, he would throw his weight to Kennedy in Minnesota, Iowa, South Dakota, North Dakota, and Nebraska, where Humphrey has strong backing.

Neither White House aspirant has yet taken any stand on this unique plan.

Three compelling motives are behind this unusual strategy: (1) To hold down the number of primary clashes between Senators Humphrey and Kennedy, and also to avoid the kind that would result in bitter personal and party wars.

(2) To keep campaign expenditures for delegates to a minimum. This objective has particular appeal to Humphrey who ruefully claims he is making a "poor man's race."

(3) To avoid a Kennedy-Humphrey deadlock at the Los Angeles convention that would open the way for one of the other aspirants to win the nomination as the "compromise" choice. Especially feared as such possibilities are Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson, Senator Stuart Symington, California's Governor "Pat" Brown, New Jersey Governor Robert Meyner, and Adlai Stevenson, despite his repeated disclaimers of not being a candidate again.

Stevenson may play a role in the proposed Kennedy-Humphrey "all-or-nothing" primary plan.

If anything comes of it, the former Illinois Governor may be asked to act as the "third party" in the concluding discussions in which Humphrey and Kennedy would take part. Both Rowe and Raskin favor this.

In recent private talks, Stevenson has evinced interest in a 1960 ticket made up of the two Senators. But he gave no indication whom he favored for President.

Political — Senator Wayne Morse (D., Ore.) is going to be advised not to run as "favorite son" candidate in his home state's presidential primary next April. Oregon leaders of the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education (COPE) are coming to Washington this week to discuss that with him. They will also talk to Senators John Kennedy and Hubert Humphrey, who are known to be eyeing the Oregon primary.

Michigan's stormy Governor Mennen Williams is dropping hints he may run in California's presidential primary. As Williams professes to see it, none of the other likely candidates are militant liberals, with the result that he thinks he would have a good chance to make an impressive showing in California. . . . Democratic politicians are eyeing warily the ardent efforts of California National Committeeman Paul Ziffren to ingratiate himself with party leaders in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Iowa, New Jersey and Rhode Island. Ziffren, who is close to National Chairman Paul Butler, is known to aspire to being head of the strategic Arrangements Committee of the 1960 convention. Publicly, Ziffren says he favors nominating Adlai Stevenson again, but privately he has displayed interest in Senator Kennedy's prospects.

What It Means — The reversal in the court's ideological direction comes at a time when Congress is giving active consideration to further legislation to undo some of its more unpopular liberal decisions.

This does not mean, however, that the drive in Congress has been blunted. On the contrary, proponents of the legislation are drawing ammunition from the argument that the court's current mood proves its previous view was erroneous, and that legislation is needed to curb wrong tendencies on court actions in the future.

Try and Stop Me — The reversal in the court's ideological direction comes at a time when Congress is giving active consideration to further legislation to undo some of its more unpopular liberal decisions.

Hint Of Special Session

She divorced her husband to be ready when mine divorced me.

When he realized that all the money and property was in my name, he changed his mind and decided to stick with me.

Now in his seventies he has started up this romance again. After putting up with him for 49 years I do not intend to disgrace my children and grandchildren by going through a divorce. How can I keep him in line?

Dear No: Offentimes the lack of cash in a man's pocket will keep him in line when his moral principles have failed to do so. One way to ground a live wire is to short circuit his allowance.

Dear Abby: About 2 months ago my 16-year-old daughter fell very hard for a fellow who, from all appearances, seemed very nice. He gave her a big rush and she was never happier.

Last week she received a phone call from a girl who told her she has been going that possibility. Mr. Lawrence himself underscored the point only last week in his appearance before a joint session of the Legislature.

In his appearance before lawmakers last week—first such personal appearance on the part of Mr. Lawrence since his routine appearance March 2 when he presented the Administration's budget—the Governor primarily appealed to lawmakers to settle their partisan differences and get on with solution of the Keystone State's tax problem.

However in his appeal to deadlocked lawmakers to square away the ship of state, Mr. Lawrence took the time to touch upon the constitutional powers of both the Legislature and the Governor—points with which lawmakers long have been familiar.

In "gently" noting these respective powers, Mr. Lawrence said:

"The Governor is given the right to veto if he believes the Legislature has acted unwisely—and he is given the right to call the Legislature into special session if he believes it has left important work undone or if an emergency arises in the State's affairs."

Had he left the subject drop at that point, few would have given it a second thought. However he added one sentence that served to remove the "observation" from the passing commentary category.

This is the sentence viewed as the "big stick."

"You can be sure, and the people of Pennsylvania can be sure, that I will not hesitate to use—at the proper time and in the proper manner—the full constitutional and moral powers that are open to me."

Lawmakers at first generally regarded the commentary as merely a passing note. The more some of them thought about it however—particularly anti-Administration GOP legislators who control the Senate and nearly so the House of Representatives—the more they bristled over the prospect of it being a veiled threat.

Was it or wasn't it? "I don't think it could quite be construed as quite," commented one gubernatorial aide. "It was a simple statement of fact. Admittedly however, the possibility (of a special session) is there."

Should Mr. Lawrence ultimately resort to the special session tactic, it is questionable as to whether the desired results could be obtained even then.

The composition of the Legislature—with a Republican controlled Senate and a Democratic House—would remain the same as at present.

And—should the Legislature be called in special session, it would be the first time a Pennsylvania chief executive would have resorted to the device in 15 years.

Since 1791 there have been only 24 such extra or special sessions called by Pennsylvania's governors.

Interestingly perhaps, 12 "specials"—or half of the total—were called after the turn of the century. The last special session was called by Governor Edward Martin in 1944 and was concerned almost exclusively with World War II war effort legislation.

Mr. Lawrence may break the 15-year "peace cycle."

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

There are many compensations in newspaper work as well as many dreary hours of just plain drudgery. One of the most satisfactory experiences is when, like a spark leaping across a vacuum, you recognize a kindred spirit.

It happens in families when parents exchange looks above the children's heads after some whimsical exchange between the children at which they dare not laugh. It sometimes happens at parties or in meetings when, over the chatter or in the midst of a program, two eyes meet and exchange a delighted recognition of the preposterousness of what has happened that nobody else seems to have noticed.

Some people can send that spark over the telephone wires, and you feel a burst of affection as Mrs. Kerr's delight at her first barbecue, as youthful at 88 as it would have been at 5.

And it can happen in print. Nancy Fritz is doing a terrific job of covering the National Girl Scout Round-up, and, in the midst of her narrative the spark will jump and suddenly you'll be seeing it with her eyes, feeling as she felt, really sharing in the experience.

And more rarely, there's an answering spark from a reader. Someone will say, "I'm glad I'm not the only one with a martyr complex," or "Were you listening to our supper conversation last night?"

And then you know that somehow you've hit a common experience — maybe not universal but one that other people have felt in just that way — it's as comforting as a familiar face in a world of strangers, as the touch of a hand on a lonely way, this recognition that says "I know."

Local Scouts Watch 48-Star Flag Fly For Last Time Over National Roundup; Pokey Pocos Struggle With Tent, Table

By Nancy Flory
(Special to The Daily Record from National Girl Scout Round-up)

Colorado Springs, Col., July 2—Today was a busy day for us. We woke early and for a change had breakfast first. We hurriedly packed our overnight cases in preparation for leaving the train, but we had forgotten to turn our watches back again so we had gained an hour. Our train was two hours late again so we just sat and rode on.

Out patrol made a name and after trying out a dozen we decided that the most appropriate (though we hated to admit it) was the "Pokey Pocos", short for the late Pococinos. I know it doesn't make sense but it's original.

Sun Over Kansas

When we opened our eyes at 6 a. m. we were greeted with the sight of the sun newly-risen over the flatlands of Kansas. It was such a different sight than our familiar Pococinos and the morning found us taking pictures. It was a shame that it was dark when we passed through Nebraska, and I was asleep when the train stopped for about 20 minutes in Omaha.

When we finally arrived in Colorado Springs among the towering Rocky Mountains with-in sight of Pike's Peak, we were greeted by the Air Force Band. What a surprise that was!

Our bus ride up the mountain brought us through two stages. When we arrived at the campsite, happy and starry-eyed at what we were seeing, we checked in and we bought our straw hats and yellow larials (designating our section) with the money each of our troops had given us. We all thank you, girls.

If you ever heard of a bad luck group, the Pokey Pocos were that personified. We seemed to lose everything we shouldn't, be at the wrong places at the wrong times, have a tough time with our tents, and even had to eat on the ground for dinner.

We wanted to build our table but everyone is discouraging us from work since the altitude and the thin air are hard on girls not used to it.

Not Heat, Height

The ambulances make their rounds for the girls who've passed out from the heat. It's really not that hot (about 85) and the humidity is low (12 percent) but the air is thin. It is so beautiful here.

At long last by nightfall we finally are settled and happy. Our neighbors are from New Jersey, Illinois and California. I'll tell you more about them later when we get to know them better.

July 3—Our second day here at the Girl Scout Senior Round-up proved much busier than we anticipated. We awoke at 6 o'clock in the morning to find one of the most impressive sights towering above us. Pike's Peak stood majestic, with the early sunlight illuminating the peak.

Table Troubles

Our breakfast was eaten on the ground since our table wasn't quite finished. Now there's something funny. All eight girls were sure they knew how to build a table, but after looking at those complicated instructions, our confidence soon left us. Naturally, we're all professional carpenters and we just couldn't understand why the one side was so high our feet couldn't touch the ground. At least it's a table, people.

As we have been told, the weather here is quite different, and this is an understatement. One minute it is so calm and peaceful and within five minutes we can have twisters and rain. We know; it happened to us today. You could look down over the camps of tents and see the wind whipping around in a funnel. When we saw that we ran for our tent. The wind was so strong it pulled tent pegs out and two kitchen flies and a tent in the other part of our camp were totally collapsed.

Our patrol has been lucky so far, our tent has stayed up — but there is more wind where that came from!

Sing Waring Song

The weather also affected our demonstration. We were scheduled to put it on in the arena on Sunday and we had to give it for the demonstration director. While we were halfway through with our Indian dance, a twister came again. It was so comical to see these Indians running to hold up their tents! After the wind subsided we finished by singing the song Fred Waring wrote for us, entitled "It's Great to Be a Scout."

After dinner we had flag retreat in our camp, which includes about 350 girls. Gail Swank and Barbara Smith represented our troop in the color guard.

New Stars For Old Flag

When this was over, all 8,000 girls and 2,000 leaders marched into the arena where we watched Alaskan girls present the President of the Girl Scouts of America with a flag with 49 stars. Later Hawaiian girls presented the star that will soon be added to the flag of our union. The ceremony ended with the lighting of a bonfire made with five points to symbolize Senior Scouting.

When we left the arena we passed the 48-star flag of the United States, flying all night tonight for the last time. When we were back in our camp we could see it waving proudly since the floodlights shone on it for this special occasion. It was a very moving sight, for tomorrow we will see history in the making.

Court Of Awards For Water Gap Scout Troop

Del. Water Gap — The season's closing meeting for the Girl Scouts was a busy one and a happy one for the girls as they had their Court of Awards and received badges.

The Wyckoff Shopper

"the friendly store"
A.B. Wyckoff
STROUDSBURG, PA.

I realize only too well that whenever anything Russian is discussed, everyone is ready to pounce. Criticize and you are called a menace, fomenting ill will between nations because of personal suspicion and narrow mindedness. Applaud, and you are regarded as someone to be watched—a Communist, perhaps, or even worse—a spy. Thus I know full well I am teetering on a nylon thread over a precipice in even mentioning the Russian government's scientific and cultural exhibit at New York's Coliseum . . . yet it deserves mention.

Maybe the Russians have spies in our midst . . . but certainly nothing I could say would help anybody one way or the other. I only know that I firmly believe the average Russian woman to be pretty much like Madalyn Maloney, average American. I am sure she loves her children . . . her home . . . expects to work hard to keep body and soul together under a leak-proof roof . . . doesn't actually envy anybody anything . . . and feels within her heart a deep yearning for peace and a great love of beauty. Since all of us are created in the image of God, I am sure it could not be otherwise. I am sure too that there is far more good in every single human being than there is bad in all of us put together. While I am not prepared to accept Russian doctrine, I am quite prepared to admire—even love—the Russian people for whatever is fine in them. As a fellow Christian I am sure you agree.

As for the exhibit, only a scientist could tell us whether or not it is good. It is impressive, beyond all denial, but most of us are pretty much at sea in a strange world where the talk is of electrons, atoms, pulse heights, paramagnetic resonance, biopotential-controlled manipulators, and such. Common sense tells me the Russians aren't revealing ALL they know . . . and whether they are revealing even a measurable small percentage is anybody's guess. In all truth, I would have been equally mystified and impressed had they erected a two story chrome egg beater, topped by a TV antenna, and powered by a motor that made a whirling noise while bells rang.

The second floor I understood. There one sees exhibits of typical Russian instruments including the Balalaika; magnificent and very meticulous shadow boxes, showing scenes from "Hamlet", "Boris Goudonov", "Stone Flower", "A Tale of Kites-Town", and other classic operas, plays, or ballets in miniatures of actual settings used in the principal theatres of Russia's largest cities. There is one large stage entrancingly set up with tiny ballerina cutouts in various positions of the dance. Here too are oil paintings—and since all of them are definitely realistic, our American modernists would call Russia behind the times artistically. The nearest to abstract painting is a lovely soft-toned "Willow in Blossom" painted by A. Gritsai in 1936. Many of the paintings are martial in feeling . . . the most gruesome showing the death of Hitler and his Reich command in their bunker . . . the most luminous being "Letter from the Front", which, because of its coloring, is much like our "poster art". Nonetheless, the sunlight playing over the faces of wounded soldier and children, listening to a letter as read by a most attractive housewife standing in her doorway, is warm and cheering. The expressions are those one would read on any human face anywhere in the world when news of a loved one had suddenly opened the floodgates of relief and joy.

Russian fabrics, wools particularly, do not compare with ours . . . nor do their ski jackets and coats. Their furs are rich but the styles are outdated by American standards. Their gems are lovely but unimaginatively set. But their handmade laces, carvings, table linens, figurines, decorative lacquered trays, boxes, etc., toys, Christmas decorations, and music are superb. Russian lingerie and hosiery are sheer, feminine, and colorful . . . Russian cosmetics and perfumes are lavishly bottled and wrapped. Their food stuffs are attractively displayed . . . their top value car is handsome, the others too gaudy.

I came away feeling proud to be an American . . . and very happy to be a human being in a world where ALL men reach out for self-betterment and beauty.

Sears, Roebuck Catalog Is Largest In History

LOCAL CATALOG customers of Sears, Roebuck and Co. are receiving the largest catalog published by the company in 41 years, Jess Pierson, manager of the Sears Store in Stroudsburg, said yesterday.

Issued for the Fall and Winter selling season, the new catalog lists more than 135,000 separate items in its 1590 pages, he said.

Almost five weeks will go by before the company has completed the distribution of more than 8,000,000 copies of the big five-pound book. It is printed in 11 different editions, one for each of Sears' 11 mail-order houses.

Noting the changes in the catalog over the years, Pierson, said that approximately 48 per cent of Sears anticipated sales volume from the new book will come from products which were not even developed before World War II.

He cited television receivers, automatic washers and dryers, rotary power lawn mowers, wash-'n'-wear clothing, and tubeless tires as among the now-familiar products in the catalog not for sale before the war. A portable refrigerator and an interlocking rubber floor tile which requires no adhesive are among the many items making their first appearance in this fall's book, Pierson added.

A far cry from the company's first catalog, published in 1886, which contained only 32 pages, all of them devoted to watches, the new catalog represents the work of hundreds of artists, merchandisers, photographers, models, and copywriters. Approximately 22 per cent of the book's pages appear in four colors.

Based on a study of more than 2,000 selected items in the book, prices in the new catalog remain even with those in the company's spring-summer general catalog issued in January, Pierson said.

Sears catalog customers, who do not regularly receive copies may use the loan books available at Sears catalog desk. The Summer Sale Book, featuring summer items in effect until Aug. 17 is currently available.

Wind Gap Teacher At NEA Session

DOROTHY K. BUDGE, first grade teacher at Wind Gap School at Wind Gap, attended the 97th annual convention of the National Education Assn. (NEA) in St. Louis.

Miss Budge was one of approximately 15,000 teachers and administrators from the 50 states and territories of the United States attending the massive Kell Auditorium for the week-long convention. Ruth Stout, president of the National Education Assn. keynoteed the convention with an address before the first general session in which she called for Federal support for education in the race with Russia for the minds of men.

On the issue of integration, Miss Stout urged delegates to approach the issue unemotionally.

Construction The 1959 NEA convention was structured around a series of speeches, workshops, demonstrations, and exhibits which are designed to help teachers improve instruction and professional qualifications.

Particular emphasis was placed on standards, ethics, new teaching tools, and in-service education. Significant action is also expected on such national issues as Federal aid to education and integration.

In addition to individual workshops and oral presentations, delegates had at their disposal the latest in teaching materials and school equipment. Hundreds of elaborate exhibits made available free materials.

Rules Set For Happy Marriage

WESCONVILLE—Dr. Charles B. Hirsch, president of Washington Missionary College, was the featured speaker before 3,000 persons here at the 49th annual state convocation of the Seventh-Day Adventists last weekend.

Dr. Hirsch cited Judge Joseph Sabath's "Ten Rules For a Happy Marriage."

1. Bear and forbear.
2. Work together, play together, grow together.
3. Avoid little quarrels—the big ones will take care of themselves.
4. Compromise. It is the antidote that destroys the poison of divorce.
5. Practice sympathy, good humor and mutual understanding.
6. Don't grouch before breakfast—or after it.
7. Respect your "in-laws".
8. Establish your own home, even in a one-room flat.
9. Fight for each other, but not with each other.
10. Build your home on religious faith, and never let a day close without a clean slate for forgiveness.

Other Speakers Another speaker featured for the weekend services was Miss Petra Sukau, former Hitler youth leader recently converted to Christianity.

Mrs. Viva L. Bess, a former Reader in a Christian Science church, will conduct the program. Music will be furnished by Miss Carol Courtman, soloist, and Donald R. Carter, organist.

West End Residents To Discuss Taxes

THE West End Taxpayers' League will meet Friday to discuss the increases in school taxes requested by Ross and Polk Township school boards to enable them to balance their budgets for 1959-60.

Ross Township has asked for tax levies equal to 193.87 percent of the township's 1958 duplicate. Polk has asked for 150.93 percent.

A court hearing will be held next Monday to decide whether or not the budgets will be more than 110 percent of the 1958 tax duplicates. This is the limit without court permission under the regulations governing the first year of the new tax equalization and reassessment program in Monroe County.

Kenneth Keller, chairman of the West End Taxpayers' League, said members will meet primarily to discuss this new financial situation at 8 p.m. in the Guild Hall at Gilbert. The League last met April 13.

Merged Firms To Be Called 'Erie-Lackawanna' Railroad

WASHINGTON—Increased earnings of not less than $13,400,000 annually before federal income taxes, mostly from operating savings, are contemplated by a merger of the Erie Railroad and the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad according to a joint application filed by both roads with the Interstate Commerce Commission today.

The name of the merged company will be Erie-Lackawanna Railroad Co.

Harry W. Von Wille, president of the Erie, and Perry M. Shoenmaker, president of the Lackawanna, said that part of the savings can be made shortly after approval of the plan by the ICC, the full savings to be achieved gradually within a period of five years.

A net cash investment of not more than five million dollars would be required to produce these savings. Capital improvements would include such major items as a new electronic freight yard at East Buffalo, improved signalling, expanded freight yards at Hornell and Jersey City, construction of connecting tracks and bridges and additional communication lines.

It is expected the ICC will set a date for hearing sometime in September. Both presidents indicate they anticipate little or no opposition to the proposed merger. They said every effort will be made to progress the plan so as to begin realizing the savings at the earliest possible date. They hope to have full approval early next year after which administrative and operating functions can start to be combined.

More Efficiency

The application stated that such a merger would produce more efficient and economical transportation for the public. Major economies would be made through greater use of motive power and equipment, consolidation of freight and passenger train facilities, elimination of wasteful and duplicate facilities and combination of department activities. It further stated that the greater financial strength of a merged system would stimulate technological improvements in railroad operation and attract new industries to the territory served.

Proxy material will be mailed to security holders sometime next month. Both companies will hold special stockholder meetings on Sept. 22. Approval of at least two-thirds of the stock of each company will be required.

Erie common stockholders are to receive one and one-quarter shares and Lackawanna holders one share of common stock of the new company for each share presently held. Erie preferred stock will not be affected and all existing bonds of both companies, including debentures, will remain outstanding as a debt of the merged company.

There will be no increase in fixed or contingent charges as a result of the merger. Annual fixed charges based on the year 1958 will amount to about $9,450,000 and contingent charges $3,800,000 on a total debt of $333,700,000 including $55 million of equipment trust obligations. Assets will total approximately $737 million.

In the recession year of 1958 gross operating revenues of the two carriers were $229 million. Both roads are reporting increased revenues in 1959.

(Record Harrisburg Bureau)

No one was injured in the accident.

10 Area Radio Operators Pass Novice Class Tests

TEN AREA amateur radio operators passed their novice class examination recently, Stroudsburg Instructor Lawrence Lambert has announced.

They were Gilbert Scharf, Scotrun; Scott Deitz, Newfoundland; Larry Hartzel, Greentown; Leon Shiffer, East Stroudsburg RD 3; William Schubert, Stroudsburg RD 1; Mark Desanto, Stroudsburg RD 3; Robert DeSanto, Stroudsburg; Mrs. Marie Cavanaugh, East Stroudsburg; Mrs. Mildred Buzzard, Delaware Water Gap, and Mrs. Billie Lambert, Stroudsburg.

Age Range
The operators, ranging in age from 62 to 15, are not capable of operating a radio network. They can be called upon for Radio Amateur Civil Emergency service.

Lambert and Russell Scheller, Stroudsburg, the two instructors, are operators of the general class.

The 10 new novices can try out for this same class in a course which will be given in September by Ernest Transue, Stroudsburg, a member of the amateur extra class.

The novices had to take and send international morse code. The general class requires a faster rate of sending and receiving.

Today, there are many quick victories over disease. Each might be described as a crisis that didn't quite happen — thanks to today's superior medicinal agents.

Modern medicines prescribed by your physician score amazing triumphs over diseases which, only a decade ago, were almost certain to become dangerously serious.

Present-day pharmaceuticals, such as the antibiotics, require complex equipment, intricate controls and highly skilled technicians for production. Although somewhat higher in cost, they actually are an investment in economy. They effect an earlier cure and cut down expensive sick-bed time.

We are staffed and equipped to fill your doctor's prescriptions promptly at prices that are fair.

Korean Bonus Clarified By Legion

MELVIN McElwain, commander of the American Legion's 30th District, yesterday clarified a misunderstanding over the resolution recently passed by the district on the subject of the Korean Bonus.

It concerns career soldiers who were in service previous to July 25, 1950, and provides:

"Compensation would be payable to any Pennsylvanian who was a member of the military or naval forces of the United States, or of any of her allies during the Korean conflict between June 25, 1950, and July 27, 1953, provided that the individual

"(e) was not a member of the regular armed forces of the United States with continuous service four years immediately prior to June 25, 1950, except those awarded the Korean Service Medal for active foreign and/or sea service who were still legal residents of Pennsylvania when Act 317 became effective on Aug. 8, 1957."

Five Property Deeds Placed On File

FIVE DEEDS were filed yesterday in the office of Floyd Butz, Monroe County register and recorder, at the Monroe County Court House.

Aaron T. and Verna E. Smith, Middle Smithfield Township, to Gust and Madeline L. Selbach, same address, two lots in Middle Smithfield Township (two deeds); Selbachs to Smiths, two lots in Middle Smithfield Township.

Ray S. and Rose F. Frack, East Allen Township, Northampton County, to Joan Anna Borger, Saylorsburg, RD 1, lot in Ross Township; Dale H. and Pauline G. Learn, Stroud Township, to O. H. and Mary W. Billingslea, Richmond Hill, N. Y., lot in Pocono Township.

Where's the handiest place to look for data on almost any subject?

ANSWER: THE DAILY NEWSPAPER. It is a current and living historian. It records today what will be tomorrow's history. The files of the daily newspaper are the most accurate and the richest source for the records of the events of any day, any year, as far back as newspaper files are kept. The contents of the newspaper are no fleeting thing that appear on the air and then are lost forever. And it is this permanence that makes the daily newspaper the favorite of readers and advertisers.
